dead actor occupied seats at the head of the hall near the coffin. It was after 11 o'clock when the solemn services began. The Rev. Dr. Hobert Hunter read selections from the holy scriptures, the porillons selected being two verses from the Nineteenth Paslm and the uffeenth chapter of First Corinthians. Then the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," was sung by Miss Bertha Ricci, and when the last strains of the sweet music died away Rev. Dr. Jas. S. Macintosh made a touching prayer. When this was over, Mr. W. H. Morton sung a solo "After Toil Cometh Rest." The Rev. Dr. Hunter, of the Kensington Presbyterian church, made the first address,

Upon the conclusion of the exercises at the hall, the remains were given in charge of the Philadelphia section of the Benevolent Order of the Eliss, who, in conjunction with their brethern from New York, St Louis, Chicago and other cities, escorted them to Monument cemetery, where, after performing the impressive rites of the order, the remains were schalinged to the vault, in which they will rest for the present.

St. Louis, November 12.—110 representatives of the Western Racing association, who met here yesterday, continued their session to-day and organized what is to be known as the American Turf congress. Mr. J. F. Robinson was elected president and B. G. Bruce, of Kentucky, secretary and treasurer. Racing rules were amended in several particulars and it was decided to license jockeys. One of the principal changes in the rules was one which makes it impossible for any one interested in any of the horses in the races to act as a judge, and that a horse shall not be considered a sarter, for the purpose of seitling bets, until he is actually in the hands of the starter. The tixing of dates for the different spring and fall meetings was not accomplished, as no satisfactory arrangement could be reached.

GALVESTON'S AGONY.

GALVESTON, November 12.—A canvass of the labor situation to-day demonstrates the fact that hast night's finding of the arbitration committee will be accepted by both sides and all fears of further immediate labor troubles on the Mallory wharf, or elsewhere in Galvestou, are dispelled.
The Knights of Labor are well pleased with the outcome and are quietly claiming an important victory by reason of the concession contained in the recommendatory clause of the arbitration committee's finding which absolutely prohibits the Mailorys from employing a single colored man in addition to those already employed, and the knights are using this important fact among unorganized laboring men of the city, as an inducement why they should join the order. The pay-roll of the Mailory company is at its maximum now, and their is no prospect of their being compelled to increase the force, hence the concession is of no practical value to the knights, except in point of principle, and they are making use of it as such.
